(p.xi) Acknowledgments

Kathrin Koslicki

The material in this book has been presented over the years in numerous talks, workshops, conferences, and seminars and has benefited greatly from the help of many friends, colleagues, and students. I would like to express my thanks to Christof Rapp for organizing a very stimulating workshop on my book manuscript at MUSAΦ (Munich School of Ancient Philosophy), Ludwig Maximilians Universität, München, Germany, in the fall of 2017. I learned a great deal from the very thoughtful comments delivered by Michail Peramatzis at this workshop as well as from the contributions of the other workshop participants. In the spring of 2016, I had the pleasure of traveling to Istanbul, Turkey, to participate in a very thought-provoking workshop on Aristotelian Metaphysics and my book manuscript at Bogaziçi University. I am grateful to Mark Steen for organizing this workshop and to the other participants, who traveled to Istanbul for this event, for their helpful and interesting comments.

I would like to acknowledge the support of the following foundations and institutions which had a hand in making this research possible. Portions of this research were undertaken during my tenure as the Tier I Canada Research Chair in Epistemology and Metaphysics at the University of Alberta, which began in January 2014. I am grateful to the Canada Research Chairs program for its support. The University of Alberta and the Kule Institute for Advanced Study have also been very generous in providing funding for various research initiatives related to this book project: in 2017, the Kule Institute for Advanced Study awarded me a Dialogue Grant for the project, “2017 Hylomorphism Conference: an examination of the Aristotelian doctrine of matter (hylē) and form (morphē),” which was also funded in part through a SSHRC (Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada) Connection Grant; in 2014/15, the University of Alberta awarded me a Killam Research Fund Connection Grant and the Kule Institute for Advanced Study awarded me a Dialogue Grant for the project, "Artifacts and Metaphysical Explanation." I am grateful to the Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada, the University of Alberta, and the Kule Institute for Advanced Study, as well as its director, Geoffrey Rockwell, for their support.

During the academic year of 2012/13, I held an Alvin Plantinga Fellowship at the University of Notre Dame's Center for Philosophy of Religion. I would like to thank the co-directors, Mike Rea and Sam Newlands, for inviting me to spend a very enjoyable year at the Center, and all those at Notre Dame during that year who helped create such an excellent research environment. Finally, I would like to express my sincere thanks to the National Endowment of the Humanities for awarding me a fellowship during the academic year of 2010/11.

Portions of this book are based on previously published work as follows. Chapter 3 incorporates material from Koslicki (2014), "The Causal Priority of Form in Aristotle," (p.xii) in Studia Philosophica Estonica, Special Issue: "Aristotelian Metaphysics: Essence and Ground," edited by Riin Sirkel and Tuomas E. Tahko, Vol. 7.2 (2014), pp. 113–41; and Koslicki (2018a), "Essence and Identity," (forthcoming) in Metaphysics, Meaning and Modality: Themes from Kit Fine, edited by Mircea Dumitru, Oxford University Press, Oxford. Chapter 4 incorporates material from Koslicki (2012b), "Essence, Necessity and Explanation," in Contemporary Aristotelian Metaphysics, edited by Tuomas Tahko, Cambridge University Press, Cambridge, pp. 187–206; and Koslicki (2018b), "Towards a Hylomorphic Solution to the Grounding Problem," to appear in Royal Institute of Philosophy Supplements to Philosophy, Cambridge University Press, Cambridge. Chapter 5 incorporates material from Koslicki (2012a), "Varieties of Ontological Dependence," in Metaphysical Grounding: Understanding the Structure of Reality, edited by Fabrice Correia and Benjamin Schnieder, Cambridge University Press, Cambridge, pp. 186–213; and Koslicki (2013a), "Ontological Dependence: An Opinionated Survey," in Varieties of Dependence: Ontological Dependence, Grounding, Supervenience, Response-Dependence (Basic Philosophical Concepts), edited by M. Hoeltje, B. Schnieder, and A. Steinberg, Philosophia Verlag, München, pp. 31–64. Chapter 6 incorporates material from Koslicki (2013b), "Substance, Independence and Unity," in Aristotle on Method and Metaphysics, edited by Edward Feser, Palgrave Macmillan, Basingstoke, pp. 169–95; and Koslicki (2015b), "In Defense of Substance," in Themes from Ontology, Mind, and Logic: Present and Past, Essays in Honour of Peter Simons, Grazer Philosophische Studien, Vol. 91 (2015), edited by Sandra Lapointe, Brill Rodopi, Leiden, pp. 59–80. I am grateful to Brill, Cambridge University Press, Palgrave Macmillan, Philosophia Verlag, Oxford University Press, and Studia Philosophica Estonica for giving me permission to reproduce this previously published material here.

Over the years, I have greatly benefited from feedback I have received on my work from many colleagues and students, including (but not limited to): Andreas Anagnostopoulos, Lucas Angioni, Paul Audi, Sina Azizi, Ralf Bader, Mark Balaguer, Karen Bennett, Sara Bernstein, Philipp Blum, Ingo Brigandt, Teresa Britton, Jeff Brower, Danielle Brown, Margaret Cameron, Anjan Chakravartty, Rebecca Chan, David Charles, Eli Chudnoff, Phil Corkum, Fabrice Correia, Andrew Cortens, Richard Cross, Shamik Dasgupta, Heather Demarest, Louis deRosset, Joseph Diekemper, Maureen Donnelly, Travis Dumsday, Antoine Dussault, Brian Epstein, Simon Evnine, Kit Fine, Mark Fiocco, Graeme Forbes, Christopher Frey, Martin Glazier, Bob Hale, Ata Hashemi, Pieter Sjoerd Hasper, Katherine Hawley, Allen Hazen, Chris Heathwood, Thomas Hofweber, Paul Hovda, Ferenc Huoranszki, Ross Inman, Nurbay Irmak, Christoph Jäger, Ludger Jansen, Thomas Johansen, Christian Kanzian, Boris Kment, Dan Korman, David Kovacs, Irem Kurtsal, Ka Ho Lam, Sandra Lapointe, Hannah Laurens, Mitzi Lee, David Liebesman, Bernie Linsky, Dan Lopez de Sa, Alan Love, Jonathan Lowe, Josep Macià, Marko Malink, Wolfgang Mann, Ned Markosian, Sanna Mattila, Kris McDaniel, Andrew McFarland, Michaela McSweeney, Chris Menzel, Trenton Merricks, Friederike Moltmann, Kevin Mulligan, Sam Newlands, Bruno Niederbacher, Howard Nye, David Oderberg, Marilú Papandreou, Bob Pasnau, Ville Paukkonen, Laurie Paul, (p.xiii) Tim Pawl, Jeff Pelletier, Michail Peramatzis, Christian Pfeiffer, Christof Rapp, Mike Raven, Mike Rea, Esther Rosario, Gideon Rosen, Liva Rotkale, Noël Saenz, Thomas Sattig, Theodore Scaltsas, Jonathan Schaffer, Amy Schmitter, Benjamin Schnieder, Alan Sidelle, Ted Sider, Ori Simchen, Peter Simons, Riin Sirkel, Alex Skiles, Jeff Snapper, Mark Steen, Leopold Stubenberg, Mack Sullivan, Meghan Sullivan, Tuomas Tahko, Amie Thomasson, Patrick Todd, Niels Tolkhien, Christopher M. I would like to express my appreciation to the founding members of the Canadian Metaphysics Collaborative (<<http://metaphysics.ca>>) for their support in helping me create this initiative in 2015 to facilitate collaboration among Canadian and Canadian-affiliated metaphysicians: Margaret Cameron, Phil Corkum, Carrie Jenkins, Mike Raven, Ori Simchen, Jessica Wilson, and Jack Zupko. I thank Margaret Cameron and Mike Raven, in particular, for serving with me on the CMC Steering Committee and as co-editors-in-chief of our new peer-reviewed, open-access, online journal, Metaphysics (<<http://metaphysicsjournal.com>>).

Jeff Brower, Tuomas Tahko, and an anonymous reader for Oxford University Press deserve special thanks for their extensive, helpful, and interesting comments on the penultimate draft of this manuscript. I have also benefited greatly from exchanges about this project with David Oderberg and Simon Evnine. In addition, I am very grateful to Ka Ho Lam for his outstanding work as my graduate research assistant at the University of Alberta from spring 2015 to summer 2017.

Peter Momtchiloff has been an absolute pleasure to work with on this and my previous book; we all owe him much appreciation for the amazing work he has done over the years for the philosophical community as a whole as being the philosophy editor for Oxford University Press.

My deepest gratitude, however, is due to Bob Semborski for his love and patience during these past ten years while I was working on this book; I dedicate this book to him. (p.xiv)
